Aéroports de Paris commissions new parking stands at Terminal 2E boarding pier

Aéroports de Paris commissions 4 new aircraft parking stands in the eastern part of Terminal 2E boarding pier. These new stands increase the number of contact parking stands with direct boarding from the lounge, hence improving passengers' comfort.

Three of the new parking stands are dedicated to medium haul aircraft. The fourth one accommodates long haul airliners. Terminal 2E can now simultaneously accommodate a total of 14 "contact" aircraft.

In compliance with the commitments made at Grenelle de l'Environnement meeting, Aéroports de Paris equipped its aircraft parking stands with last generation runway lighting (LEDS or light-emitting diodes), three times more energy efficient than conventional bulbs. The new stands also have, like all the other parking stands at the pier, electric equipment limiting the use of Aircraft Power Units (APUs) during aircraft parking time. These new developments bring a real acoustic comfort to employees working around aircraft and limit greenhouse gases emissions.

In addition, Aéroports de Paris enhances its retail offer to passengers. Terminal 2E boarding pier showcases prestigious brands portraying Paris, capital of luxury shopping and fashion design: Chaumet, Dior, Prada, Yves-Saint-Laurent, etc... Trendy new French and international designers are also present with Marc by Marc Jacobs, Paul and Joe, Repetto or Zadig et Voltaire.

A year after its unveiling on 30 mars 2008, Terminal 2E boarding pier handled 6 million passengers and more than 48, 000 flights, essentially to and from North America, South America, the Middle East and the Far East.
